San Diego State University is offering two new online programs for educators and mental health professionals:

Master of Arts in Education (Counseling)

- Learn post-traumatic growth, resiliency and strength-based practices.
- Gain a solid foundation in addressing mental health in multi-cultural contexts.
- The 30-unit program can be completed in 12 months.
- Develop academic and relational skills that support trauma-informed care and recovery.
- Situated in social constructionist and postmodern philosophies.

These new programs are offered through SDSU’s College of Education.

Applications accepted through March 1, 2017 | onlinecounseled@sdso.edu | go.sdsu.edu/education/csp/