The Workforce Recruitment Program (WRP) connects motivated college students and recent graduates with disabilities to paid federal summer or permanent jobs!

WRP provides eligible students & recent graduates with disabilities, in all fields of study, the opportunity to interview with a federal agency representative and market themselves to a wide variety of employers and gain valuable skills and experience.

WRP serves as a primary pipeline for bringing new talent into the federal government. Participating is an excellent way to:

- *Find an internship or permanent position at federal agencies
- *Explore careers in the federal service
- *Gain interviewing experience

ELIGIBILITY: U.S. Citizen; permanent disability; currently enrolled full-time student, or have graduated in April 2015 or later

Signs of a Job Scam!

Scammers know that finding a job can be tough. To trick people looking for honest work, scammers advertise where real employers and job placement firms do. Here's what to look out for:

You need to pay to get the job

They may say they've got a job waiting, or guarantee to place you in a job, if you just pay a fee for certification, training materials, or their expenses placing you with a company. But after you pay, the job doesn't materialize. Employers and employment firms shouldn't ask you to pay for the promise of a job.

You need to supply your credit card or bank account information

Don't give out your credit card or bank account information over the phone to a company unless you're familiar with them and have agreed to pay for something. Anyone who has your account information can use it.

The ad is for "previously undisclosed" federal government jobs

Information about available federal jobs is free. All federal positions are announced to the public on usajobs.gov.
